MINES NEAR DE LAMAR

Many New Prospects Will be Developed This Season.

RICH PROPERTIES BONDED

Earnings of the Great De Lamar for the Month of May-Prospecting on South Mountainidence of the Standard.

DE LAMAR, Idaho, June 15.—Better weather and better roads have added some new life to this camp since the STANDARD's correspondent has last writ-ten. Many prospects are now being worked which were idle all winter and visitors are occasionally dropping in and looking around for properties. All who come here and draw comparisons with other mining camps make them flattering to the situation here: but still we have no Cripple Creek or Creede boom here, and will probably in the end be better off with-out any such doubtful methods of making deals in our mining properties. One very promising property was bonded here last week and some other important deals are expected to take place very soon.

The returns from the great De Lamar mines for the month of May have just been reported by the manager and show a net profit of $40,221.80. With the com-pany's one 30-stamp mill running it is probable that the monthly profit will not vary much for months to come, and there is but little prospect at present of more milling capacity being added, although ore could readily be supplied for years to come to keep several such mills running. The s why more mills are not built are probably various, but the chief one is because as depth has been acquired in the mines the ore, although growing rapidly richer cannot be worked so closely by the pan amalgamation process, and the mana ger will not recommend putting money into plants until he is thoroughly satisfied as to what process will produce the best results. He is a persistent experimentor, and is not only having the cyanide pro-cess thoroughly tested in Denver, where ore was shipped for that purpose, but is trying other experiments here. As soon as satisfied with results we will probably have a plant constructed to work much larger quantities of ores.

Cow Creek district, four miles from here, is now coming to the front. Several par-ties are now developing properties over from which great things are expected. Your correspondent, who prides himself on being a pretty good expert, was in that district last week and inspected several of the most conspicuous properties, coming away with the conviction that that will, before long, make a great Several parties of speculators are now camping in South Mountain, 20 miles from camping in south Mountain, 20 innes from here. One of these, a Chicago party, has a short time option on a group of a dozen or more claims upon which it is reported a deal will be closed this week. Another party from Spokane is inspecting another group. South Mountain has immense car-bonate and galena deposits which, were they in Colorado or North Idaho, would cause a craze among mining men. But here, where free milling ores have claimed the attention of miners, this great base ore deposit has been comparatively neglected.

We have no Miners' union in this camp. but the miners here are expressing a good deal of indignation over the manner in which Governor Willey is treating the troubles in North Idaho. On his recent visit to the scene of the troubles he only consulted the mine owners and slighted the miners by not even meeting them for a conference when invited to do so. But as the governor will retire to the obs from which he never should have been called next November, his actions are not so much commented upon as is the course pursued by the Boise Statesman, which, for a few days after the troubles began, espoused the cause of the miners and then iddenly flopped over to the side of the Mine Owners' association and has since had no good word to say for the laboring men. Several miners here have stopped their subscription to the Statesman, and frequent commendations can be heard from them of the fair and consistent treatment of the STANDARD concerning these North Idaho troubles. The STANDARD's agent will be welcomed here and increase the already large subscription list when he comes accel.

Mrs. Jacob Kirchner of Fort Dodge, Iowa, is suing for a divorce on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment. She of cruel and inhuman treatment. She specified that her husband would not let her kiss him and had killed her pet cat. Mr. Kirchner alleged in reply that his wife was accustomed to kiss her cats, and had already kissed several to death, and he thought that this was a sufficient reason for refusing her kisses and removing her cat. He couldn't bear cats anyway.
